

Production Problems – Tayside Pharmaceuticals

Tayside Pharmaceuticals has recently had a major failure of the air handling system affecting its clean rooms and as a result we cannot currently manufacture sterile products, aseptic products or certain creams and ointment. We have been informed that a repair will take at least two weeks and it is therefore likely that we will run out of stock of certain lines within that timescale.

Whilst we still have stocks of a number of products, for those products that we are out of stock and that are urgently required, we will endeavour to find alternative suppliers and inform customers.

If information is required about any outstanding orders please contact us on tpsales.tayside@nhs.net as opposed to phone calls as our lines are very busy at this time - we will get back with information as soon as possible.

As soon as we have any update on the current situation, another communication will be sent out.

Apologies for the inconvenience that this is causing, however the situation is currently beyond our control.
